The Soviet Union in the Second World War

In terms of suffering and devastation, the Eastern Front of the Second World War has no parallel in human history. History 371 will investigate the war's celebrated turning points and ignominious low points, such as the Battle of Stalingrad and the Siege of Leningrad, but also lesser known stories of life behind the lines, women in combat, Nazi collaborationists, and the creation of mythologies of heroic resistance that remain sacred in Russia even today.
